Highland Cemetery, Fort Mitchell

Location: 2167 Dixie Highway, Fort Mitchell, Kenton County

Established: 1869

Dedicated: June 22, 1869

Owner: Private Association

Burials: Regional Cemetery, Predominantly Protestant

Records Available at the Library: Microfilm - CEME-H 1-19

History: Traditionally, Protestant Covingtonians buried their dead at the Craig Street Cemetery. By the late 1860s, the Craig Street Cemetery was full. On December 12, 1868, a number of prominent Covington citizens met at the Odd Fellows Hall on Madison Avenue to discuss the establishment of a new cemetery. Most agreed that a more rural setting with enough acreage to expand would be ideal.

In 1869, three large parcels of land on the Lexington Pike (Dixie Highway) in Fort Mitchell were purchased as a site. A subscription drive was begun in January 1869 to raise the necessary funds. In time, over $23,000.00 was raised. The committee decided to name the cemetery "Highland" because of its geographical location.

In June 1869, section I of the new Highland Cemetery was completed. The first burial at Highland Cemetery was that of Mary
